OCTOBER 2019

“Marina Jargon”

The entire crew at HHM would like to thank all of you for your compassion and consideration through this very difficult season. We never had a year where so many of our customers thanked us for doing what we do. We will continue to make improvements where and when we can, we will be replacing the last of the wood docks with floating docks.

“Notes from the Service Desk”

Before you get into the winter mode and forget about the boat until April, give some thought to any maintenance or improvements that you might be considering for next season.

Over the winter is the best time for our crew to be doing those services because there is no interruption or time restraints to your using the boat. Granted there are some projects that can't be done but if we can get a head start it works for both of us. Here is a list of some items that should be looked at.

Hoses and belts, fuel lines, water intake and drain hoses

Engine mounts, prop nuts, shaft set screws. These can loosen up from vibration and be costly when they fail.

Outdrive bellows, they only have an average life span of 10 years.

Water pump impellers recommended every four years or 200 hours.

Send an email and we can discuss your particular needs.
